

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED UNIVERSITY REGULATION AMENDMENT

FSU-5.098 Textbook Adoption and Affordability and Transparency

Amendment to the regulation is proposed to conform to amendments to the Board of Governors regulation on textbooks and instructional materials affordability and transparency. The proposed revisions:

- Implement the BOG requirement to post course section syllabi;
- Define the term “textbook assignment application (the Application)” to refer to the online application that the University uses to create the lists of required and recommended textbooks and instructional materials that students purchase for course sections;
- Codify the exemption for specified individualized courses;
- Include materials in digital format to the definition of “materials” assigned to students to purchase, read, or review;
- Specify posting deadlines when instructors are assigned or course sections are added after the required deadline;
- Aligns the cost-benefit analysis of textbook and instructional material affordability to BOG requirements;
- Restructures provisions to reflect actual practice in using the various applications to post syllabi and textbook and instructional material approval.

The title is changing to “Affordability and Transparency Requirements for Course Syllabi, Textbooks, and Instructional Materials” to better reflect the revised content.
